L'DOR V'DOR STORIES

Ronnie & *Robert Footlick

"THE FUTURE! What powerful words, filled with so many different images for each of us. When we were younger it meant college, jobs, marriage and hopefully children. Now that we are grandparents, it has a completely different connotation, one of communal responsibility; a responsibility to future generations to safeguard those institutions which have formed the bedrock of our lives...our schools, our hospital and our Temple. These institutions have provided a richness to our lives which has allowed us to flourish and enjoy all that life has to offer.

"For that reason, we decided many years ago to establish a lasting legacy for BHC, in order to ensure that the Temple remains a vibrant part of our community and the lives of its Congregants for generations to come. It is truly a wonderful feeling, to know that our philanthropy will accomplish worthwhile things when we are no longer here to do it ourselves."

Isabel & Stan Levin

"The rich history of BHC is inspirational. Knowing that a small group of individuals struggled to organize, over 180 years ago, the first Synagogue in Maryland motivates us to take this action so that BHC will survive and thrive. Including a provision in our will that directs a percentage of our estate to be given to BHC is a convenient and painless way to express our support for the future advancement of BHC."

Linda & Harvey Litofsky

"As taught by our parents, to volunteer, tikkun olam, and tzedakah are at the very core of our lives. We have been passing on to our children and grandchildren these beautiful values and traditions that we have always treasured.

"Baltimore Hebrew Congregation has been a place for us to worship, study, work, celebrate holidays, and through Sisterhood and Brotherhood, nurture many special friendships. To continue our family values, we have joined the L'Dor V'Dor Society so that when we are no longer able to give directly, our legacy to Baltimore Hebrew Congregation will continue.

"To quote Winston Churchill, 'We make a living by what we get; we make a life by what we give.'"

Sherry & Sandy D. Minken

"Our reason for including Baltimore Hebrew Congregation as a beneficiary of our estate is because BHC has been our spiritual home for over 45 years. Sherri was confirmed here, and we were married here. All three of our children became B'nai Mitzvah and were confirmed here. Our grandchildren carry the tradition in all of the High Holy Day children's prayer books that bear their names. We have been blessed to have had strong Rabbinic leadership through the years to pass on to our children and grandchildren."

Linda G. Speert

"My father used to say that each of us is a part of the continuum of the Jewish People. We have survived and thrived as a People because of the important contribution each of us makes in our own unique way, while at the same time being part of the whole. Although I was not born in Baltimore, it has become my 'adult' home where I raised my own children and purposefully chose Baltimore Hebrew Congregation as the spiritual home for my family.

My family benefited from the generosity and foresight of those who built and sustained this congregation in the past, making it possible for my children to also find their connection to Judaism and become part of the continuum of our People. Now, although my children have moved to other cities, created their own families and joined congregations, this is where it all began for them.

My BHC congregational ancestors did not know me. The congregational ancestors of my children's congregations didn't know them, but they are now providing for my grandchildren. Likewise, I will not personally know the BHC congregants a generation or more from now. But I do know that my involvement and my philanthropic legacy to our congregation will provide for them what others provided for me and my family. L'Dor V' Dor, generation to generation - that is the continuum of the Jewish People."
